

Papakeeche Lake Wetland

Established as a Mitigation Process
2012

Drop box with logs to control lake level. Standing on top of dam.

Nov 5, 2017 after heavy rain.

The Raiders are not Mysterious People, they are all one in the same working to make our place a better place to be.

Sun reflecting on water after heavy rain. Bed of water cress on left side of trisect 2. Artisian well flows in from right front of Trisect. Cress likes the cold Water.

Photo Point 3
View: Facing west

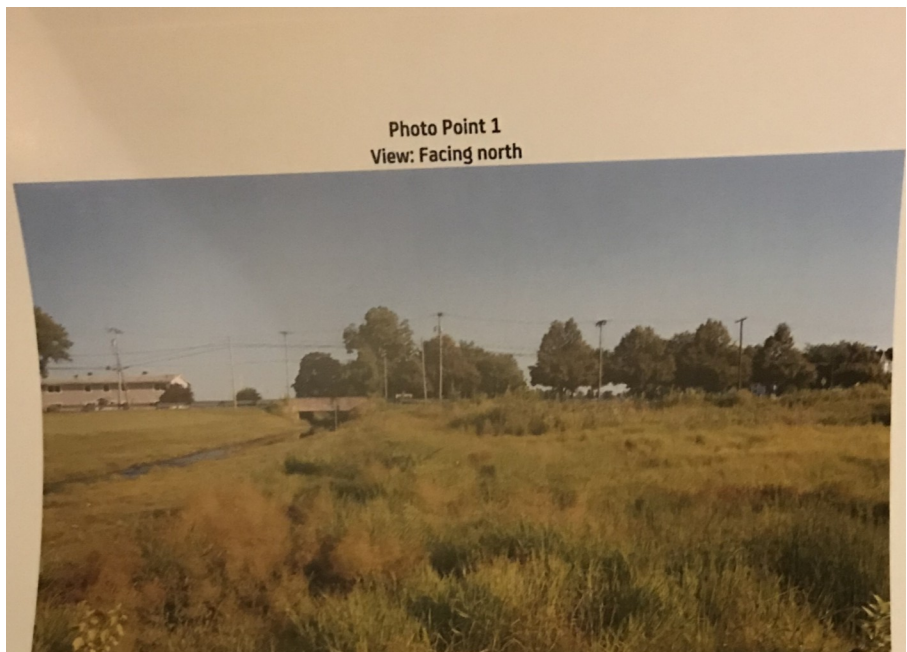

Photo Point 2
View: Facing west

Trisects in the mitigation area as Defined by Williams Creek Consulting

Photo Point 1
View: Facing north

Some Views by Hatchery Road

Carex, Sedge and Rush
Arrowhead, but not blooming,

Vervain

Obedienc, from my house but we seeded for it 2017w

Dianthus

Virginia Wild Rye

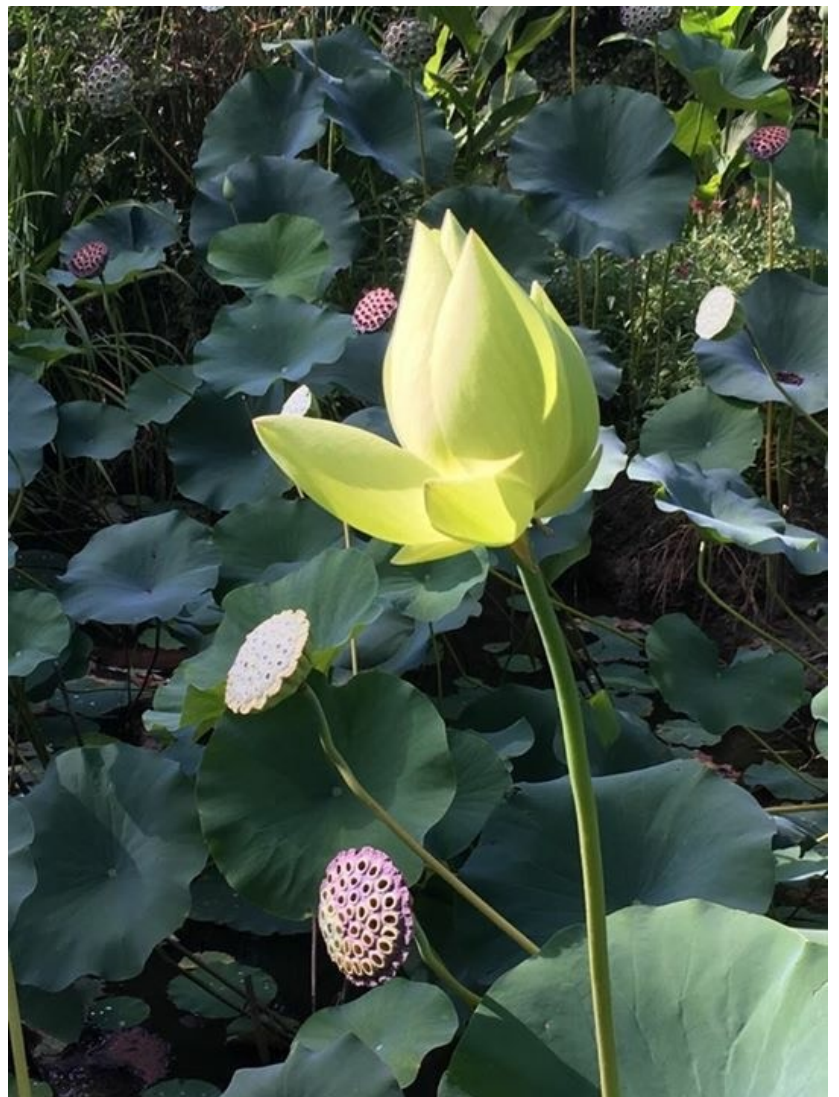

Mowed Bern

Hemp

American Pond
(plant) weed

Boneset
Black eye
Susan

Bumble Bees on Bull
Thistle

Red Twig Dogwood

Monarch larvae by Redhead Pond

Blue and Red
Lobelia

Iron
Weed

Mallow or Hibiscus

Great Blue Lobelia

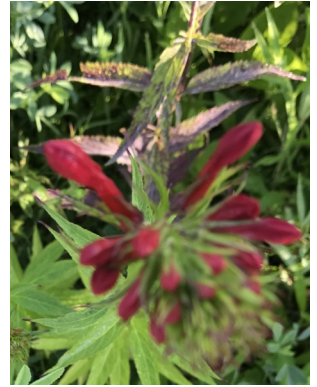

Hibiscus

Monkey face

Lobelia
Cardinal
Flower

Bird in protection of tall green
Rush.

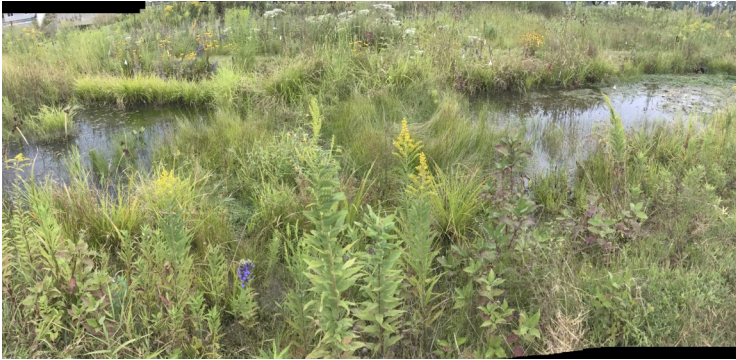

Not sure of identification here.

Your Plantings, Koher Rd N
Common Flox, blue campanulas

August 11, 2017

WCC scientist with quadrant for testing.

Volunteers! Some say Raiders on the hunt for Loosestrife. If you don't see your picture here it is more than likely in my files of 1000's pictures. As they are recovered they will go into the documents.

This process is ongoing, never ending.

Wetland Raiders 2015-2017

Larry Clough
John Hart
Paul Erst
Georgiana Hart
Dian Clough
Paul Garl

Cat tails were just everywhere.

Diane Tulloh
Linda Minnick
Rita Schmedler

Enhancing the Iron Armor Flex Erosion Control Mat with sedge and carex.

White Clover in Mat.

Patty and Steve Schwartz

November 5., 2017 Very, very heavy rain. Some said it was 4 inches.

Linda Minnck
Patty Schwartz

Wrestling Loostrife

Jody Hedges

We have an identification system.

My other favorite lake, Little Crooked
Gatesworthy Drive, Columbia City

Lotus from Valparaiso
Is it growing any where in Tri-County?

